

MASTOWELL

Abbreviated Prescribing information for Mastowell (20 mg) [Please refer the complete prescribing information available at www.torrentpharma.com]

PHARMACOLOGICAL PROPERTIES: Mastowell contains bilastine. Bilastine is an antihistamine; its principal effects are mediated via selective inhibition of peripheral H1 receptors. The anti-histaminic activity of bilastine has been documented in a variety of animal and human models. Bilastine is a non-sedating, long-acting histamine antagonist with selective peripheral H1 receptor antagonist affinity and no affinity for muscarinic receptors.

INDICATIONS: For symptomatic treatment of allergic rhino-conjunctivitis (seasonal and perennial) and urticaria in adults.

DOSAGE AND ADMINISTRATION: One tablet once daily for the relief of symptoms of allergic rhinoconjunctivitis (seasonal and perennial) and urticarial in adults. The tablet is to be swallowed with water. It is recommended to take the daily dose in one single intake. Take the tablet before meal or 2 hours after food.

WARNINGS & PRECAUTIONS: Children aged 2-5 years of age; in patients with moderate or severe renal impairment coadministration of bilastine with P-glycoprotein inhibitors, such as e.g, ketoconazole, erythromycin, cyclosporine, ritonavir or diltiazem, may increase plasmatic levels of bilastine and therefore increase the risk of adverse effects of bilastine.

ADVERSE REACTIONS: Oral herpes, increased appetite, anxiety, insomnia, tinnitus, vertigo, right bundle branch block, sinus arrhythmia, other ECG abnormal/ties, electrocardiogram QT prolonged, somnolence, headache, upper abdominal pain, nausea, stomach discomfort, diarrhea, dry mouth, dyspepsia and gastritis, increased gamma-glutamyl transferase, alanine aminotransferase increased, aspartate aminotransferase increased, blood creatinine increased, blood triglycerides increased and increased weight, hypersensitivity reactions (such as anaphylaxis, angioedema, dyspnoea, rash, localized oedema/local swelling, and erythema).
